The other countries are Morocco, Pakistan, Paraguay and the Philippines, according to Hastings. Many of these countries have underdeveloped telecom infrastructure -- even though their economies are growing and could offer great potential for Netflix and other digital content companies like it. Meanwhile, services like Google's YouTube, which has a long-term global play, haven't fared so well in developing nations, largely because of problems distributing content to weaker, poorly connected networks. "I think things have improved somewhat on the networks, but we want to get to places that we haven't yet reached and I think the World Cup is a good way to do that," Hastings said. "The World Cup has the cachet of being the biggest sporting event of the year and we'll see if soccer works out for us there. I've heard that they have wireless in the stands and
